COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The work has stated on the commitment book and tax bills for 1963. The total valuation for 1963 is $6,490,270.00. This is about $18,000.00 less than the $6,508,270.00 valuation for 1962. The town lost a $135,000.00 of taxable property as a result of the March fire on Main Street and the personal property of Oklahoma Pipe Line that was in town last year. New houses made up the major part of the new taxable property for 1963.

The tax rate for 1963 has been set at 41 mills. This is an increase of 4 1/2 mills over last year. The increase is necessary because of the loss of valuation and an increase of $31,392.00 to be raised by taxes. The fact that an extra $4,000.00 was taken from surplus and a $4,000.00 small overlay kept the rate from increasing more than it did.

The town of Bethel is not unique in that it has had large increases in these last few years. Towns and cities all over the state are faced with the same problem. The situation will continue until new forms of taxes are found to relieve the real and personal property tax or increased grants and subsidies are received from the state and federal governments.

REMINDER ISSUED ON FAIR LABOR STANDARD ACT REQUIREMENTS

Employers and employees are reminded of revised provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (Federal Wage-Hour Law) which goes into effect September 2, 1963.

The reminder came from Regional Director Leo A. Gleason of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions.

He pointed out—

1. The minimum wage for employees engaged in interstate commerce or in production of goods for interstate commerce goes from the present minimum of at least $1.15 an hour to a new minimum of not less than $1.25 an hour. Such employment was covered by the Act prior to amendment of 1961.

2. A 41-hour maximum work week standard, with provision of premium pay of at least one and one half times the regular rate for overtime, goes into effect for employment in certain large enterprises engaged in commerce, or in the production of goods for commerce, principally in retail and service establishments. Such employment was made subject to overtime provisions of the Act for the first time by the amendments of 1961.

Gleason also cited the Equal Pay Act of 1963 which amends the Fair Labor Standards Act and goes into effect generally on June 11, 1964. It provides that employers with workers subject to the Fair Labor Standards Act's minimum wage provisions shall not discriminate on the basis of sex in the payment of wages. It covers every establishment where an employer has such workers.

He cautioned employers that the official Wage-Hour poster, which is available from the Department of Labor, should be posted in every establishment.

PUPIL GROUPING AND PROMOTIONS IN BETHEL SCHOOLS EXPLAINED

Superintendent Hamilton R. Bailey has announced that pupil grouping and pupil promotion for the opening of school in September is based upon the following policies which have been approved by the Bethel School Committee.

These policies have been developed in an effort to improve and strengthen the educational program in the Bethel schools, and to provide each pupil a greater opportunity to demonstrate his individual ability and aptitude.

This will encourage and enable the teachers to do much more effective work in this field of individual pupil guidance.

Pupil Grouping

1. Pupils in the first three grades shall be grouped into heterogeneous divisions and grouped in such a way that all divisions are made up of relatively equal number of pupils of varying ability.

Such grouping will be based on available Achievement Tests, Reading Readiness and Ability Tests, I. Q. Scores, and grades received.

Within each grade classroom there shall be at least three reading ability groups and such other grouping as best meets the needs for individual differences.

2. In grades four through eight grouping shall be homogeneous, with a top and second division or divisions at each grade level.

Such grouping will be based upon available Achievement Tests, Reading Ability Tests, I. Q. scores and grades received.

3. All grouping shall be reviewed each year and such changes made as appear for the best interest of the individual pupil.

4. The decision of the superintendent of schools, based upon the recommendations of the teachers and principal shall be final in all questionable cases.

5. Teacher assignments shall be alternated as to ability groups when consistent with training.

Pupil Promotion

Teachers shall consider carefully the qualifications of each pupil for promotion keeping in mind the individual pupil needs and abilities.

Promotion shall be based upon three basic factors:

1. Grades received by the pupil.

2. Achievement shown by the pupil on student achievement tests administered in May.

3. The pupils ability, in the opinion of his teachers and principal he will be able to meet the requirement of secondary school study.

Further information about the law can be obtained at the Regional office located at 18 Oliver St., Boston, Mass.

STATE POLICE CHIEF URGES SAFE LABOR DAY WEEK END

Col. Robert Marx, State Police Chief, today urged Maine motorists to do everything possible to make this a safe Labor Day week end.

"Every week end presents extreme traffic danger," said Col. Marx. "The tragic death toll of the past two months is sad testimony of this fact. Holiday week ends complicate the traffic situation and add to the death and injury potential."

Col. Marx pledged an all-out effort by State Police to keep traffic moving smoothly and safely, and he urged the public to cooperate with courteous, cautious, sober driving. He urged motorists, also, to join the "Buckle Up For Safety" program by driving with headlights on low beam during the daylight hours from four P. M. Friday, August 30th, through Labor Day, September 2nd.

EXTENSION WOMEN TO MEET SEPT. 17

September 17 is the date of the fall meeting of the Oxford County Women of Extension, announced Mrs. Alice Hodsdon, of Frye County Home Economics Chairman. This meeting will start at 10:00, when Mrs. Helen Wright, Representative of the Simplicity Pattern Company, will give an illustrated talk. The Norway Extension group—Mrs. Edith Greenleaf, Chairman—will act as hostess for the occasion. A luncheon will be served at noon by Mrs. Emma Morse and Mrs. Evelyn Cullinan, both of Norway. A short business meeting will follow the luncheon.

The Universalist Church vestry in Norway is the place of meeting. Anyone interested in hearing the speaker is cordially invited to attend. Reservations for luncheon can be made at the Extension Office in Smith Paris.

opinion of the teacher and principal to do satisfactorily the work of the grade to which he will be promoted.

Pupils not ready for promotion shall be retained at the earliest grade where this problem arises, but not more than two years in any one grade.

Where necessary retarded pupils may be transferred to a higher grade without promotion.

In order to receive a diploma from Grade 8, a pupil must show grade improvement, and ability of such quality that in the opinion of his teachers and principal he will be able to meet the requirement of secondary school study.

MAINE FOREST SERVICE LOOKING FOR PINE CONES

The Maine Forest Service is looking for trees with good crops of cones. Each year the service foresters collect cones which are sent to the State Nursery in Greenbush where the seed is extracted and planted the following Spring.

This year the cone crop is small and will be concentrated in Oxford County. Cones will be collected primarily from white pine but the state forest service is also interested in obtaining cones from the red pine, Norway spruce, and white spruce trees. The state pays by the bushel. Prices are $2 for white pine, $5 for red or Norway pine, and $2.50 for Norway spruce cones. Price for the white spruce will be available shortly.

Cones must be picked green before they fall off the tree. This can be done by collecting in a cutting operation or climbing the trees for them. The service foresters will make a test which indicates when the cones are ripe. Landowners who have cones they wish to pick should get in touch with service foresters Dave Clement or Wayne Jackson in South Paris. The telephone number is 743-6900.

The foresters are also looking for areas which have trees and the landowners would be willing to have the cones picked. The service foresters will find pickers to harvest cones on these trees.

SEN. MUSKIE REPORTS

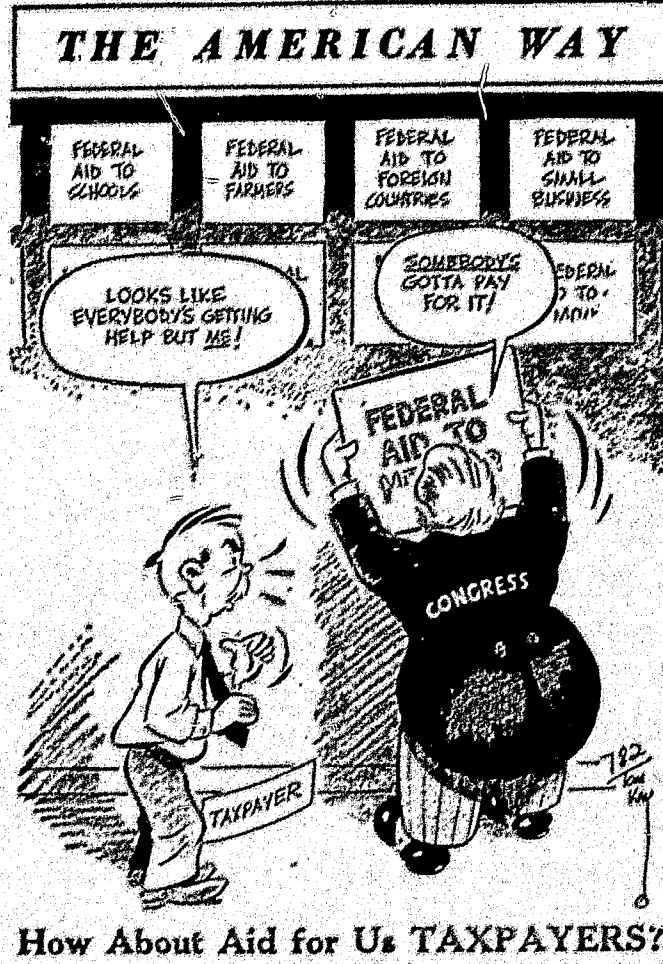

In Maine, we have serious transportation problems. Passenger train service is limited to two round trips daily between Portland and Boston. Limitations on rail traffic have an adverse effect both on the convenience of residents and visitors, and on the opportunities for economic development.

The latest and most serious threat is to our State's air transportation system. The Civil Aeronautics Board has taken action to withdraw Northeast Airlines' right to air traffic service south of New York. The CAB would reportedly provide Northeast with a $2.7 million subsidy to make sure that Northeast could continue future air service at least equal to the present level of service.

It is essential to Maine that present air service must not only be preserved but extended. When Northeast was granted a temporary franchise on the Miami route several years ago, I was pleased. I felt that if Northeast's economic position could be improved, better air service to Maine would be the inevitable result. Such has not been the case.

Northeast Airlines is in a difficult financial position. Although Northeast's service in Maine has been inadequate in the past, I still feel that a more effective Northeast Airlines operation could give us better service. Northeast has been serving Maine for many years. It is familiar with Maine. Should Northeast discontinue its operations, many capable Maine citizens, employees of Northeast, would be deprived of a livelihood. If the airline is placed in a position to provide adequate service, then Northeast will have the support of the people of Maine. But if Northeast is either unable or unwilling to provide the service Maine needs, we must look elsewhere.

Our primary objective must always remain adequate air service to Maine. It has become obvious that such airline service must be subsidized. For all intents and purposes, we have no passenger rail service. This places an even greater importance on the development of an adequate system of air transportation. We must now direct the combined efforts of Congress, the Civil Aeronautics Board, and the airline industry toward providing adequate air transportation to a State that needs it badly and has not been Remember, it is easy to forget to turn off those driving lights, if you have been cooperating with the Maine Highway Safety Committee's "Light's On for Safety" program. The State Police wish to urge us to do these two things—to join this effort to save lives in traffic by "lighting the way toward safety," and to remember to turn off our driving lights to keep from running down the car battery.

20 SECONDS with the NAZARENE

Educators challenge us to receive a good education in preparation for life and a life's work — sound advice. But at the end of three score years and ten, what then?

The world's greatest teacher, Jesus, recommended that we "search the Scriptures" for in them we "have eternal life."

HOWE - STOWELL ENGAGEMENT

Miss Elizabeth Scott Howe

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sidney Howe, Stillwater Avenue, Old Town, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Scott, to Peter Russell Stowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stowell, Jr., West Bethel.

Miss Howe graduated from Old Town High School, and attended the University of Cincinnati. She plans to enter Husson College this fall. Elizabeth is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield S. Howe, Hallowell.

Mr. Stowell is a graduate of Gould Academy, and attended Northeastern University. He is presently employed by the Stowell Silk Spool Co., Bryant Pond, and will resume his studies at the University of Maine.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Will you light a light to save a life today?

CLASS REUNION

The Gould Academy Class of 1928 held a reunion Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brown on Chapman Street. The group enjoyed a pot luck luncheon at noon, which was followed by a business meeting and a social afternoon. It was voted to hold a reunion the first Sunday in August next year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown in Rumford.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Earlyn Wheeler, Rockport, Maine; Mr. and Mrs. Robert York and daughter, Julie, Kennebunk, Maine; Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, Lovell, Maine; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown, Rumford, Maine; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brown and daughter, Lonann, Bethel.

GOULD CLASSES, 1912-13-14 HOLD REUNION, AUG. 25

Forty-three people were present at the lobster and roast beef dinner held at the Cummings camp, Sabbathday Lake, on Sunday, August 25. It marked a date of two years standing, arranged by Arthur, Jr., and Nellie Cummings in honor of their father's fiftieth anniversary as a graduate of Gould Academy. Arthur S. Cummings is one of the few ambitious people who have the distinction of having earned a diploma in two years of concentrated application. Mr. Hanson arranged for him a schedule of recitations in every period of the day, and the work was finished. None other of the better known secondary schools of fifty years ago would afford such an opportunity to a young man who had previously attended Bliss College and who had been employed in commercial office work.

Those who attended the reunion were:

1912: Dr. Walter and Gladys Keene, Newtonville, Mass.

1913: Dr. and Mrs. Winfield Wight, Thomaston, Conn., and Winfield (ex '34) and Laura Wight, St. Petersburg, Florida; Carroll and Nell Valentine, Charles Tuell, Ella Grover, Alta Meserve, Sylvia Conroy, Ralph Young, Eva Bean, all of Bethel; Urban and Lillian Bartlett, Bethel, with Edna Bartlett Bean, class of 1911, and Clifton Bean, of Rumford; Ruth and James Ring and Mrs. Bertha Emmons, Locke Mills; Dana and Dorothy Grant, Pelham, N. Y.; Ralph and Esther Abbott, and daughter, Beverly, Lisbon; Joseph Deegan and Henry Keating, Cambridge, Mass.; Norman and Marjorie Hamlin, Otisfield.

1914: Margaret and Clyde Oakes, Augusta; Mabel Bean Robertson, Bryant Pond.

Special guests were: Anne F. Trewoy, who played the accordion for group singing; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur R. Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Vachon of the Gould Academy faculty.

The fifty year class, 1913, was enrolled with forty students and was graduated with twenty-four, twenty-one of whom are now living.

The death of Cleveland R. West, 1912, is the only vacancy in this group since last summer.

After dinner Mr. Vachon gave a graphic resume of developments in educational standards in Maine—and in Gould Academy—during the last half century.

Fourteen members finished the day's celebrations as guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Grant at a buffet supper at the Bethel Inn.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

DOUGHNUT IMMERSION

A strong-minded man with a wife and daughters inevitably faces certain hazards. It is a natural feminine trait to attempt to guide a man along the accepted channels of social amenities. There are areas of activity, however, where a man should take a stand. It may be wise to seek advice concerning colors of ties and socks; but when it comes to doughnuts a man should write his platform plank and govern himself accordingly.

There is some doubt concerning the invention of the doughnut hole, although Maine folks claim that Captain Hanson Gregory in 1832 was the first to see the potentiality of the circular space. Captain Gregory's wife, according to legend, cut a section from a fried cake so he could place a cake or two over a spoke of the wheel by which he steered his ship.

The National Dunking Association is vigorously pressing a campaign for dunking freedom. As one reads a long list of available types of doughnuts today, he hopes the younger generations are finding satisfaction in dunking. Over the years certain basic tenets have been established.

To keep dunking on the level of gracious living, a man should break his linker in two, and then immerse one end of a semi-circle in his coffee. A second dunk is about right for most citizens.

Lift the dunked end and pause briefly for drainage. Then unhurriedly lift the coffee-flavored section to the oral cavity. If there is difference of opinion in the family, and wife and daughters are acutely conscious of etiquette books, a man is wise if he goes ahead and dunks and keeps his eyes on the doughnut.

White Mountain Logging Railroads

by C. Francis Belcher
(C. Francis Belcher, Executive Director of the Appalachian Mountain Club, has been making a study of the present subject for many years. His former association with the Boston and Maine Railroad gave him access to much pertinent information. This first appeared in the magazine of the Club, Appalachia, and appears here with their, and Mr. Belcher's permission.)

Success Pond R.R., 1894-1907. (Known also as Blanchard & Twitchell Co. R.R., 1894-1904, and George W. Blanchard and Son Co. R.R., 1904-1907)

Part II

The Berlin connection of this railroad has already been mentioned, but what of the rest of the fourteen miles to the business end of the line at Success Pond? This description is easy, since the right of way followed with hardly a deviation the route of the current, rough surfaced Success Pond Road (good for Jeeps, jalopies, and qualified trucks only) to its terminus just east of Success Pond. During the fourteen years of operation of this line numerous spurs or sidetracks were built to accommodate log landings near or, in some cases, well off the right way of way. The longest of these were the one at Camp 6 (six miles from the way in Berlin), one at Camp 9 clearing (the start of the present Goose Eye Trail nine miles east of Berlin), and a third that left the main track 11.7 miles from company headquarters and ran in the direction of Mahosue Notch for a half-mile. Logging camps were scattered all over this vast area at strategic points and the principal ones were tied together by a telephone line that ran between the Berlin office and Success Pond. One of the largest camps was Camp 9, previously mentioned, where in addition to the usual logging-camp buildings there was a large company farm with its familiar barn for the many horses that Cass Twitchell's livery concern had at work for the Blanchard & Twitchell Co. Early Appalachian Club guidebooks give reference to the unique logging signs left in this region from the Blanchard and Twitchell era.

Earlier in this story we mentioned the sale of the Brown's Lumber Co. to Cassius M. C. Twitchell in 1902 and its subsequent resale by him in the same year to the Berlin Timberland Co., really subsidiary of the newly-formed Brown Co. (a consolidation of the Berlin Mills Co., and the Burgess Sulphite Co.). While the record dims at this point, it does appear the Twitchell's livery and real estate interests took precedence over those of a railroad to Success. On March 1, 1904, Cass Twitchell sold his interest in the Success Pond R. R. to the George W. Blanchard & Son Co., once of Milan, N. H., then of Auburn, Maine, and later of Portland, with George W. Blanchard at the helm as president and his son, Maurice F., as treasurer. This sale and change of management must of had an interesting prelude, since Maurice F. Blanchard had become associated with the Brown's Lumber Co. in Whitefield in 1900.

Even in the terse language of the law (New Hampshire Supreme Court Reports, Vol. 74, page 116), there was written evidence that this period of the deflowering of Success, of the Blanchard & Twitchell Co., of the George W. Blanchard & Son Co., and of the Success Pond R. R. was more than just a lumber railroad operation. It was indeed the real, stark living of hundreds of people — largely plain people like most of us, colorful people in lesser numbers. It was rough. It was dramatic.

In the case of Hobbs, Administrator, versus the George W. Blanchard & Son Company, the court stated factually that: the defendant corporation (Blanchard & Co.) conducted extensive lumbering in Success; it operated a company railroad that furnished the only access to the company camps in the woods; it was an approved practice of the Blanchard Co. for friends to visit their friends in company woods camps and to be allowed free rides for this purpose on the company trains; Mr. Corbin and his family, including Tommy, Jr., had been with the Blanchard Co. in Success four years before; the company walking boss, Joe Durant, had invited the Corbins to visit one of the company woods camps over the Christmas holidays in 1904, but only Tommy, Jr., had accepted the invitation; the company dynamite boss, LaCombe, on December 26, 1904, had inadvertently left some of his dangerous charges outside the camp door where Tommy was visiting; and Tommy, Jr., in search of material with which to build a sled and hammer in hand to make the sled whole, never knew that he had whacked a box of TNT.

George E. Cummings, Superintendent at that time of the then White Mountain Division of the Boston & Maine R.R., wrote his superiors in Boston on May 14, 1909, that the Success Pond R. R. contract No. 4171 with the George W. Blanchard & Son Co. was cancelled. Tersely he stated: "The railroad operation of George W. Blanchard & Co. is out of business here and has performed no railroad service on this line since May 1907". The B. & M. R. R. took over control of the 1,000 feet of connection track to protect their wye where today rests a depository for pulp refuse from the mills. The only connection, that by rail, between Berlin and Success was broken. Success and its timber would be harvested in the future by other means of transportation and by other persons, but only after it had had long years in which to stretch and grow another verdant crop. Success has had many meanings in this part of the White Mountains.

Cooky Jar Special

Pineapple Spice Drops

Juice and cookies are the favorite between meal snack while kids are on vacation. Canned crushed pineapple, raisins and walnuts add texture interest to these spicy oatmeal cookies. Toasting the oats first gives these stir and drop cookies delectable flavor. Pineapple juice, noted for having "nature's most refreshing flavor", is readily available in 5 can sizes. You'll find it in sizes ranging from the single serving 6-ounce can, to the generous gang size 46-ounce can.

PINEAPPLE SPICE DROPS

1 1/4 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
3/4 cup shortening
1 egg
1 (8 1/2-ounce) can crushed pineapple
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1 cup chopped walnuts

Spread oats on cookie sheet and toast in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until light brown, 5 to 8 minutes. Resist flour with sugar, salt, soda and spices. With pastry blender or with finger tips, blend shortening into dry mixture until crumbly. Stir in lightly beaten egg, well drained pineapple, raisins, oats and walnuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto ungreased baking sheets. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Makes about 5 1/2 dozen cookies.

FAMILY WINE PRODUCER

MUST REGISTER

George P. Rowland, Assistant Regional Commissioner, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax, Boston Region, stated today that section 5042 of the Internal Revenue Code and regulations thereunder require that each year anyone who intends to produce wine for family use must file a registration on Form 1541. This form must be filed, in duplicate with the Assistant Regional Commissioner, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax, at least five days before a person commences to produce the wine.

Wine may be produced for family use without payment of tax, provided proper registration is filed, but such wine must be produced for the exclusive use of members of the immediate family of the producer and it must not be sold or furnished to other persons. This exemption from payment of tax does not authorize the production of wine for such use contrary to State law. Such wine may not be removed from the premises where produced without authority of the Assistant Regional Commissioner, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax.

The head of a family may produce not more than two hundred (200) gallons of wine each year, which begins July 1, if he files notice on Form 1541. Requests for Form 1541 from residents of Maine New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Vermont should be addressed to: Supervisor in Charge, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, 55 Tremont Street (Room 925), Boston 8, Massachusetts.

Who's Your Printer?

Does he do good work at a fair price?
Does he give satisfactory delivery?
Does he offer ideas, if desired, in designing printed matter to meet your needs?
Does he have connections with specialists who will provide service in lines not economically produced in the ordinary printing plant?
If he can't do your work when and as you want it done, does he say so?
If you have or expect to have printing problems, why not call the Citizen Office — 824-2444?

51 YEARS AGO

METHODISTS MEET MONDAY EVENING

The August meeting of Commission on Education of the Methodist Church was held Monday evening, August 26, at the home of Miss Minnie Wilson.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Stanley Brown.

It was announced that Mrs. Malcolm Mundt is to be Cradle Roll Superintendent to replace Mrs. Earl Davis who has resigned.

Teachers for the coming year are to be as follows:

Beginners Department—Mrs. Robert Clemons.

Sub-Primary—Mrs. Arthur Lincoln.

First and Second Grades combined—Mrs. Richard Stevens.

Third Grade—Mrs. Lawrence Kendall.

Fourth Grade—Mrs. Gardner Gorman.

Fifth Grade—Mrs. Charles Chapin.

Sixth Grade—Mrs. Sherman Greenleaf.

Seventh Grade—Stanley Brown.

Eighth Grade—Stanley Davis.

The superintendent is to ask

Adelle Davis and Susan Crane to help in the Beginners Department as they did last year.

The forming of a class for high school students was discussed. A number of that group have expressed a wish that there could be such a class. Stanley Davis is to talk with the Eighth Grade to find out how many would be interested in a high school class, and Rev. Hess will discuss the matter with the M. Y. F. groups.

There was a lengthy discussion of the problem of creating more interest in Sunday School. Several suggestions for

GIRL SCOUTS

The troop committee wishes to thank all the solicitors, and donors who so willingly worked and donated during the first Girl Scout drive. Approximately $300 toward the Bethel goal was realized. Watch for announcement of play and registration day for all Girl Scouts.

arousing the interest of both students and parents were made.

It was voted that children from the Third Grade up be allowed to take home their lesson books to read and study during the week.

Teachers were asked to contact personally the members of their classes and the members' parents before Rally Day, Sept. 29. It was decided that it would be a good idea to speak to the parents about helping the children understand the meaning of their offering money so that they wouldn't spend all or part of the money for candy or gum on the way to Sunday School.
